RECORD SMASHING CONGRESS EXPECTS TO FINISH WORK

Appropriations and Contracts

Made at Nine Months' Session

HISTORY MAKING BODY

Crises Over European War and Border Trouble Occupied Great Part of Administration's Time

GREAT MEASURES PASSED

Eight Hour Day Law for Roads
Averting Strike and Retaliatory Measures Features

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—Agreement by the conference committee of the house and senate on the terms of the revenue bill was reached at four o'clock Thursday afternoon, and adjournment of congress sometime Thursday night seemed certain.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—Congress expected Thursday to quit work late in the evening or Friday after a nine months' session that in many ways broke legislative records.

The greatest record smashing was in appropriations. The congress just closed authorized approximately $1,711,383,682.64 appropriations for the next fiscal year and $226,875,366 in contracts. Under the latter head were appropriations of $506,000 in the further urgency deficiency act; $85,000 in the legislative, executive and judicial bill; $2,287,950 for rivers and harbors; $5,167,000 carried in the civil sundry act; and $205,682,416 in the naval act.

The total in appropriations and contracts authorized according to estimates brings the grand total up to $1,947,259,048.64.

The final legislative measures put through were the eight hour bill to avert the nation wide strike and the revenue law by which the government is to raise $205,000,000 and which provides for the tariff commission.

In this revenue measure is also contained the provision by which the president is given power drastically to retaliate against the British blacklist and the British mail seizures. If, in the president's opinion, a foreign government, engaged in a war in which the United States is not participating, is shown to be discriminating against American citizens, ships of the nation can be seized and the ship captain imprisoned. Use of the mails, interstate express companies, and cable, telephone and telegraph lines can be refused to citizens of governments which discriminate against Americans in commercial matters.

History-Making Session
Inheriting its most pressing problems from the European war and Mexican bandits, and having had placed before it one of the most elaborate legislative programs ever known, the Sixty-fourth Congress probably will go down in history as one of the nation's most eventful sessions.

Called on twice to back the president in steps which it thought surely meant war with Germany, and actually found time appropriating millions for the Mexican punitive expedition, it nevertheless found time for half a dozen domestic measures of major importance—and to approve the heaviest appropriations in American history.

"Preparedness" led in attention throughout. The largest naval appropriation the world has ever known in peace-time, and the next-but-one largest army budget, were approved. Back of every economic measure—child labor, rural credits, U. S. merchant marine, workmen's compensation, was the cry of "industrial preparedness."

Fight on Warning Resolutions
The most sensational episode of the session was the fight over the Gore and McLenore resolutions, warning Americans off armed merchant ships after Germany had given notice it intended torpedoing them. Avoiced slaps at the president's foreign policy, they brought the chief executive and congress into sharp conflict.

Leaders of congress called on the president and warned him if the resolutions came to a vote, they

GEORGE M. COHAN TO AID PRESIDENT FROM THE STAGE

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—George M. Cohan, who made the American flag famous before either the democrats or republicans made it an issue, is to declare himself for President Wilson. Cohan conferred with Democratic National Chairman McCormick and told him he would swing substantial support from the theatrical profession to the president in his campaign for re-election.

RUMANIANS EVACUATE CITY ONLY THIRTY-THREE MILES FROM CAPITAL

PETROGRAD, Sept. 7.—Rumanian troops have evacuated the town of Tuturakan on the Danube, thirty-three miles south of Bucharest, under pressure by superior forces of Germans and Bulgarians, it was officially announced here today.

The Rumanians withdrew to the north bank of the Danube after beating back heavy German and Bulgarian attacks in a three days battle. German artillery battered in the advanced positions of the Tuturakan bridgehead.

London dispatches to the United Press Thursday said it was believed there that the German-Bulgarian blow against the Tuturakan bridgehead marked the beginning of a German attempt to march on Bucharest and seize the Rumanian capital.

Claim 20,000 Prisoners
BERLIN, Sept. 7.—Twenty thousand Rumanian soldiers were trapped on the south bank of the Danube and captured by the German-Bulgarian armies in capturing the fortified bridgehead of Tuturakan, it was officially announced Thursday afternoon. The Rumanians also lost 100 guns and suffered sanguinary losses.

Among the captured Rumanians are two generals and over 400 officers.

Strong Russian forces are now fighting in Rumania and attacked the city of Dobruja. They were repulsed by the Bulgarians. Russian and Rumanian attacks in northeastern Transylvania were repulsed.

CHIEF SUPPORTS OF GERMAN LINES ARE THREATENED

Combles and Chaules Being Picketed and French Predict Early Fall of the Positions

BRITISH REPULSE TEUTONS

Haig Reports Assault on Leuze Wood Driven Back and Many Prisoners Taken

PARIS, Sept. 7.—Combles and Chaules, two main supports of the present German lines on the Somme, are being picketed and threatened with early capture by the steady advance of the allies. A thrust carried the French lines through the greater part of the village of Berny-en-Santerre and into the outskirts of Chaules Wednesday afternoon and was made in the face of most desperate German resistance. The Germans defended their positions with great stubbornness and time and again counter attacked.

The greater part of the village of Berny was captured Wednesday as well as the northern portion of Vermandovillers, the war office announced Wednesday night.

The French advance brought General Foch's line still closer to the Chaules-Peronne railway.

Claims Germans Repulsed
LONDON, Sept. 7.—In savage hand to hand fighting Wednesday night, a German force that attacked Leuze wood, near Combles, under cover of darkness was driven back, leaving prisoners in the hands of the British. General Haig reported Thursday afternoon. Fighting continues in the outskirts of Ghinchy.

Berlin Claims Success
BERLIN, Sept. 7.—In successful counter attacks south of the Somme, the Germans have wrested from the French initial advantages won at Berny-en-Santerre, Denicourt and Chaules, it was officially announced Thursday. The French, however, obtained a footing in Vermandovillers.

ADVANCED TRENCHES OF GERMANS BEFORE VERDUN CAPTURED

PARIS, Sept. 7.—In one of their most successful attacks since the German drive on Verdun began, the French Wednesday night captured the entire 1,500 yards of German first line positions, extending from Vaux Chaptre to Chenois wood, northeast of Verdun.

The war office announced that 250 men and ten mitrailleuses were captured in this operation.

COAL STRIKE NEARER

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 7.—Announcement that the sub-committee of the miners and operators could not agree and would so report to the general conference late in the afternoon brought a strike of the southwestern coal miners nearer Thursday.

The general conference may break off negotiations, appoint another sub-committee, or possibly reach an agreement itself.

CLARK'S UNOFFICIAL LEAD IS FIFTEEN SAYS RIVAL CAMP

But Gaveney and His Supporters Will Not Admit Defeat Until Official Count

THEN TO ASK RECOUNT

If Result Is Close Gaveney Will Ask That the Ballot Boxes Be Re-opened

Unofficial figures of La Crosse and Trempealeau counties give the republican state senatorial nomination in the thirty-second district to Eugene F. Clark, Galesville, by fifteen votes, according to Elmer E. Barlow, partner of John C. Gaveney, Clark's opponent, and Gaveney's campaign manager.

Clark claims election by thirty votes. Gaveney refuses to admit defeat pending the official canvass Friday. It is by no means certain that the official count will settle the nomination, however, for Gaveney and his supporters consider Clark's lead too small to make his victory certain. Mr. Gaveney told THE TRIBUNE Thursday that if the official count shows the result to be as close as the unofficial returns indicate, he will ask for a recount in at least a few of the precincts. He did not indicate which precincts he believed to be doubtful.

SHIPPERS COMPLAIN OF SLOW SERVICE AT FREIGHT HOUSE

State Commission Will Have a Hearing at the City Hall on September 18

Complaint of slowness in handling outbound freight at the stations of the Milwaukee and Burlington roads will be made before the state railroad commission by the traffic bureau of the Chamber of Commerce on September 18. The date for the hearing was set Thursday by the commission, in a letter to City Clerk E. H. Hoff. The hearing is set for the city hall.

The traffic bureau has had a representative at the stations in question, holding a stop-watch on the movement of wagons unloading freight, and has prepared a mass of data for presentation to the commission.

A complaint of discrimination against the Milwaukee road in the shipment of oil will be heard on the following day. The Interstate Oil company charges that shipments of its competitors are handled daily, and that its own shipments are sent out only on certain days.

APPROPRIATION TO MAKE TARIFF BODY PERMANENT KILLED

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—The house and senate conference committee on the revenue bill Thursday afternoon agreed to throw out the $300,000 continuing appropriation for the newly created tariff commission designed to make the commission permanent.

The conferees also killed the Chamberlain amendment prohibiting the admission of halibut and salmon into the United States except when in bond from another American port.

GOPHER PLAGUE GROWS MANY SCHOOLS CLOSED

ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 7.—Infantile paralysis cases showed an increase in Minnesota Thursday.

A district school near Cold Springs, Minn., was closed when the teacher, Miss Agnes Kosel, was taken home suffering from the malady.

Dr. Green of the state board of health on Thursday advised the closing of Sunday schools at St. Cloud, Minn., because of the disease.

Four new cases at Glyndon, Minn., and three at Dilworth, Minn., were reported. County officials are establishing rigorous quarantine.

WOMAN WATCHING STORM IS STRUCK BY THE LIGHTNING

Bolt Tears Hole in Roof and Strikes Mrs. A. G. Solie Unconscious

TREE SMASHES A HOUSE

Rotted Maple Broken Off by the Wind Falls Upon the Home of W. B. Maley

Mrs. A. G. Solie, 1409 Johnson street, was knocked unconscious on the floor of her living room at about 7 o'clock on Wednesday night when a bolt of lightning struck her home, tearing a large hole in the roof.

The bolt which struck the Solie home occurred during the fiercest part of a wind, rain and electrical storm which swept down the Mississippi from Trempealeau early in the evening. Seventy-nine hundredths of an inch of rain fell in La Crosse.

Mrs. Solie had closed the windows of her home and was watching the storm. She was hurled to the floor and lay unconscious by members of her family. She was revived in a short time.

The home of W. B. Maley, 1407 South Seventh street, was severely damaged during the storm when a large maple tree in the front yard was snapped off near the base by the heavy wind. The tree was partially rotted near the ground.

In falling it practically demolished the front porch and smashed in a corner of the house.

Both local telephone companies report damages to local and long distance phones from the wind and lightning.

According to reports from the vicinity of Trempealeau and Galesville, La Crosse suffered less from the wind than those localities.

The storm gathered north of these points and was at its height as it passed over southwestern Trempealeau county. Reports are to the effect that small damages were felt from the wind.

COLLEGE UNITS ARE ORDERED FROM FEDERAL SERVICE

Owen Declared Nominated for Attorney General and Hull May Beat Harrington Whom Returns Favor

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 7.—At two o'clock Thursday afternoon the Milwaukee Journal had compiled returns as follows:

Sixty counties, mostly complete, give for United States senator La Follette, 71,844; Jeffries, 49,916. Senator La Follette's lead is nearly 22,000 with eleven counties to hear from.

Fifty-five counties give, for governor, Hatton, 34,199; McGovern, 26,137; Philipp, 63,424.

Thirty-six counties give, for lieutenant governor, Cousins, 34,787; Dithmar, 42,887; for secretary of state, Harrington, 38,320; Hull, 35,759; for attorney general, Owen 44,554; Hicks, 37,609; for state treasurer, Johnson, 37,919; Peterson, 30,443.

The election of Johnson for state treasurer on the final returns is practically certain, but with much Hull territory to hear from it is considered not unlikely that the Black River Falls man will win out for secretary of state.

The "Sentinel" gives the stalwarts a majority in the assembly and ten of seventeen senators, with one in doubt.

SCHWEIZER ASKS A RECOUNT OF VOTE FOR COURT CLERK

Candidate Who Lost by Four Votes Unwilling to Concede the Nomination to Kleeber

J. George Schweizer, who, according to unofficial returns, lost the republican nomination for clerk of court to Judge Leonard Kleeber by four votes, Thursday afternoon served notice on the other three candidates in the race that he will ask a recount in half-a-dozen precincts. The town of Greenfield was named, among others in which Mr. Schweizer will ask that the vote be gone over.

The official canvass will take place at the court house Friday morning. Mr. Schweizer's notice is a precautionary measure. If the official return shows the count to be as close as unofficial results, he will ask the recount in doubtful precincts.

Crazed Italian With Knife and Gun Brings Panic

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Sept. 7.—Pedestrians in the business section of the city were thrown into a panic early Thursday when a heat crazed Italian dashed about firing at some persons with a .38 calibre revolver and lunging at others with a long knife.

A waiter had the narrowest escape from annihilation when the crazed Italian caught up with him after a five blocks chase. Just when it appeared certain the frightened hash slinger would be harpooned, a policeman arrived with a riot gun and ended the excitement, by subduing the Italian.

Petrograd Reports Austro-German Center Pushed Back North of Dniester River

PETROGRAD, Sept. 7.—Russian artillery is bombarding the Galician city of Halitz, sixty miles southeast of Lemberg and the keystone of the Austro-German defenses of the Galician capital from the south. An official statement from the war office Thursday announced that Halitz is in flames.

Russian armies are closing in upon the formidable fortifications of the city from both north and south of the Dniester river. In the past few days the Austro-German center, fighting desperately, has been pushed back on Halitz north of the Dniester, the Russians taking large numbers of prisoners. Thursday's official statement, however, revealed for the first time that the czar's troops were within gun range of Halitz.

PHELAN AMENDMENT STRICKEN OUT BY JOINT CONFEREES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—The senate and house conference committee on the revenue bill Thursday afternoon agreed to eliminate the Phelan amendment whereby the president would be authorized to refuse the United States mails, express and other interstate communication to citizens of any country that interfered with the United States mails.

Police Stoned by Cement Strikers May Call Troops

LA SALLE, Ill., Sept. 7.—Officials on Thursday declared that another call for Illinois guardsmen to patrol the strike district here would be considered should a riot such as last night's disturbance occur again. Troops patrolled the strike district for several days a month ago.

Police Chief Doyle and Officer Walloch were stoned and knocked down by a mob of cement strikers and sympathizers, who seized one of their number from the officers when he was arrested Wednesday. Strikers sought to prevent a truck load of furniture belonging to Foreman Doyle of the Marquette cement plant at Oglesby from entering the city. The disturbance occurred on La Salle's main thoroughfare.

THREE TRUNK ROUTE LINES ARRANGED BY RAIL COMMISSION

Sweeping Changes in Street Car Routing to Be Ordered on Saturday Is Tip to the City

WILL ORDER EXTENSIONS

Speculation Interests Itself in New Lines to Be Ordered by the Board

NORTH CARS RUN SOUTH

Oak Grove Line to Go Through to Market and 23rd Street South to Mormon Coulee

Sweeping changes in the street car system, as a result of the hearing before the railroad commission last winter, will be ordered Saturday by the state authority, it became known at the city hall Wednesday evening. Chairman Walter Alexander of the railroad commission informed City Attorney J. E. Higbee that the commission's order will be completed Saturday, and will be received here Monday.

Three Through Routes
The commission re-arranges the street car system, it is understood, into three through routes, which will run as follows:

North side cars from Fourth and Main street over Sixteenth street line to Fourteenth and Farnam streets.

Oak Grove cars to Sixteenth and Market streets.

Twenty-third street cars south to Mormon Coulee road terminus.

In addition to this, the commission will order double tracking of Fifth street south to Market street, and of Main street. The commission also indicated that considerable new single track will be laid, but just where this extension will be required is a matter of speculation.

The order of the commission became known when the street car company applied to the council for permission to build a curve from its north side lines at Fourth and Main streets, connecting with the present Sixteenth street line. The city got into communication with the commission for authorization of the curve and Chairman Alexander gave out the general outline of the changes the commission will order.

Where New Single Track?

There are several possibilities of single track extension which are under discussion of city authorities. It is pointed out, for instance, that the north side cars are single-ended, and running then straight through to Farnam street would entail either a change in the design of the cars or the construction of a loop there by which the cars could turn.

It was also suggested that the Oak Grove line may be changed to run west on Badger street to Fourth, thence south to Main street and the southbound tracks. It was pointed out that with Twenty-third street and north side cars also running on the Main street line, the Oak Grove cars would create much more traffic than the necessities of Main street require, if allowed to remain on their present route from West avenue to Fourth and Main streets.

South on Eleventh?

Still another possible change put forward as one the commission may have ordered is deflection of the Market street line south on Eleventh street to Farnam street or thereabouts. It was pointed out that this would give service to a large portion of the south side now many blocks from either the Sixteenth or Seventh street lines.

Steel Is Ordered

C. L. Hedges, superintendent of the street car line, has no information as to the extensions the commission will require, he said, when informed of the information given to the city attorney. He said the steel for the Main street curve is now in the city and will be laid at once. The steel for the double tracking of Fifth street has been ordered, Mr. Hedges said, the order going in with the September rolling of the steel mills.

The seven new cars ordered by the company will be received here within two weeks, Mr. Hedges believes. They are to be shipped this week.

All P. A. Y. E. Cars
Incidentally, Mr. Hedges divulged that with the re-routing of the system and the arrival of the new cars, the entire city lines will be put on the "pay-as-you-enter" basis. All of the south side cars in addition to the north side cars now so equipped, will be changed over.

Mr. Hedges said that the north side cars now in use will be remodeled into the double-end type, so that a loop at Farnam street will not be necessary. All of the cars are to be equipped with a new, less brilliant headlight.

The Oak Grove and Twenty-third street "dinkies" are to be taken out of service with the arrival of the new cars, and will be kept at the barns for emergency service, Mr. Hedges said.

New Music In Review

FAVORITE ARTISTS HEARD IN FAVORITE MUSICAL NUMBERS

Caruso, Calve, Gluck, Homer and Other Celebrated Artists Delight Hosts of Music Lovers

Lovers of music the country over will find extreme pleasure in the new list of Victor Records for September which has just been issued. It is always a delight to hear the exquisite renditions of the world's greatest artists, and here is provided a program that will be a positive treat to the music-loving public.

The great Caruso gives a masterful interpretation of Cesar Franck's "La Procession." This number is perhaps the finest of the Belgian composer's songs, and its superb rendition by the famous tenor not only shows to advantage his wonderful art, but tends to bring about a fuller appreciation of the works of this great composer. An exceptionally artistic interpretation of the favorite "Prologue" from Paganini is presented by Emilio de Gogorza, his singing being notable for its purity of tone and emotional intensity. The baritone also sings delightfully a strikingly different number, a captivating ballad, "I Feel I'm in Love," made from a very popular French one-step success. The brilliant and difficult "Polonaise" from Mignon is contributed by Mabel Garrison and this attractive number serves well to exhibit the lovely freshness and purity of her voice, and its really marvelous flexibility.

Calve gives an inspiring interpretation of the soul-stirring "Marsellaise" that is not only a worthy addition to the Victor list of patriotic songs of all nations, but a brilliant piece of vocal display. Calve recently sang this thrilling French anthem at the great bazaar for the benefit of women and children and named soldiers of the allied countries, before 50,000 enthusiastic hearers with all the patriotic ardor that the occasion inspired. Now the Victor has recorded it so that thousands more can hear this great rendition, and the number is made still more attractive by the choral background of the French section of the Metropolitan Opera chorus which ably assists the noted prima donna, Geraldine Farrar in a beautiful sacred number—that grand old hymn, "Lead, Kindly Light," and Alma Gluck sings in delightful fashion, "The Bird of the Wilderness," a beautiful song inspired by the literature of the Indian author, Rudinow Tagore.

Johanna Gadske gives an effective rendition of Werner's well-known "Hedge Rose," a beautiful number which has the best qualities of folk-song. Louise Homer sings with much charm that dainty love lyric, "Last Night," and de Koven's popular "Oh, Promise Me" from Robin Hood; and Clarence Whitehill gives a vigorously sung performance of that famous war song, "Marching Through Georgia." John McCormack and Fritz Kreisler give an exquisite rendition of the lovely "Barcarolle" from the Tales of Hoffman, the admirable blending of voice and violin resulting in a record of extreme beauty.

Kreisler in addition plays an interesting "Rondino" which he wrote around a Beethoven theme, and Maud Powell also contributes a delightful piece, "The Irish reel," "Molly on the Shore," by Percy Grainger. The Imperial Russian Balalaika Orchestra presents two numbers which exhibit well the perfect ensemble and exquisite tone production of these gifted players. The Hurtado Brothers Royal Marimba band offers two fine standard waltzes, the "Blue Danube" and the "Southern Roses," and the Six Brown Brothers Saxophone Quartet gives two corking numbers in fox trot time. The Victor Military band and Victor Dance orchestra each present a pair of melodious dance selections, and Conway's band plays a Varsoviana, two one-steps and two fox trots that will delight the dance devotee.

"For Dixie and Uncle Sam" is a patriotic song offered by Nora Bayes, and this entertaining comedienne also gives another number, "Homesick Blues." "Doughie the Baker" is Harry Lauder's contribution on a ten inch record and it is given in true Lauderese style. Marguerite Farrell is the Victor's latest acquisition from the field of musical comedy and she presents two of the most popular numbers from Step this Way—"If I Knock the 'L' Out of Kelly" and "By the Sad Luana Shore"—which are well calculated to show her versatility.

Two well-known and delightful concert pieces—the tuneless "Liebesfreud Waltz" and a graceful Chamade dance—are given by Charles Kellogg, "The Nature Singer," and the Victor Orchestra and they seem especially appropriate for the exhibition of Kellogg's charming bird effects. Another fine collection of old-time favorites, carefully fitted together, is given by the Victor Mixed chorus in their series of "Songs of the Past," and sixteen of the latest popular songs rendered by Victor artists who are real experts on this kind of music, complete the month's program of entertainment.

RIPLEY DECLARES ROAD WILL FIGHT EIGHT HOUR LAW

TOPEKA, Kas., Sept. 7.—The Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad will not comply with the Adamson eight-hour law until commanded to do so by the court of last resort. This was learned definitely here on Thursday following a formal statement issued by E. P. Ripley, president of the Santa Fe, before returning to Chicago.

"The new law, hastily enacted by congress, is nothing more or less than an advance of 20 to 25 per cent in the wages of the best paid men in railroad service," Ripley said. "The Santa Fe will not comply with the law until forced to do so by the court of last resort."

Ripley said that any other class of railway workers is entitled to more money than the trainmen.

Santa Fe the Goat?
ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 7.—The Great Northern will scrupulously obey the provisions of the Adamson eight-hour bill, it was announced on Thursday. This announcement coming in the face of the Santa Fe announcement that it would obey none of the provisions of the bill, seemed to substantiate a recent rumor in railroad circles here.

This was that either the Great Northern or the Santa Fe would be chosen to flagrantly violate the bill, to force government action that would bring a test in the courts. The Santa Fe was chosen, it was said, because of the strength of its legal department.

Official Reticent
CHICAGO, Sept. 7.—Western railroad officials were reticent Thursday as to whether they would follow the action of President E. P. Ripley of the Santa Fe, who has declared his road will ignore the Adamson eight hour bill until forced to recognize it.

"We are not ready at this time to make any statement," said E. D. Sewall, vice-president of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul. At the offices of the Burlington and Northwestern, it was stated they had made no plans.

SMALL EXPENSE IN PRIMARY CAMPAIGN

J. G. Schweizer Leads with Account of $115.34 and Schlachbach Spent Forty Cents

Approximately $430 was spent by La Crosse county office-seekers in the primary campaign. Expense accounts filed according to law with County Clerk Bert A. Jolivet by the candidates shows this sum. As a whole, the campaign expenses were considered small.

Schweizer Spent Most
J. George Schweizer, republican candidate for the office of clerk of circuit court, who is four votes behind Judge Leonard Kleeber, leads the county politicians with an expense account of $115.34. Judge Kleeber spent $30.48 in his fight for the candidacy and Frank H. Aiken present incumbent of the office spent $24.48. Hardy Denniston, former court clerk, who ran fourth, spent $6.70.

Fred W. Clark, defeated candidate for the office of sheriff on the democratic ticket, headed the democrats in the size of expense accounts. He used $27.25 in his fight against John A. Weber, who beat him, and whose expenditures in the campaign were $15.41.

The largest other democratic expenditure was made by Henry Drechtrah, who had no opposition for the nomination for county treasurer. He spent $8.75.

Other amounts spent were Clinton Davey, $44.32; Henry Freehoff, $21.10; A. M. Hanson, $2.73; Ole Lund, $7.82; Aaron Darling, $25.77; W. H. Ristow, $31.91; E. H. Derr, $5.80; George McDonald, $28.89; W. L. Tetley, $1.40.

Forty Cents by Schlachbach
District Attorney Otto M. Schlachbach, whose candidacy for the re-nomination on the republican ticket was without opposition, took the "booby prize" for low expenditures with an expense account of forty cents. The socialists each spent one dollar and the prohibitionists nothing.

DOUBLE COLLISION KILLS TWO

CELESTIAL BALKED IN MARRIAGE OF MINNEAPOLIS GIRL

ABERDEEN, S. D., Sept. 7.—Chow Hum, Celestial, and Miss Gladys Millage, Minneapolis, were leaving South Dakota Thursday for some state where laws do not prohibit marriage of Chinese and whites. They were balked at the altar when Judge G. W. Crane discovered the 1913 statutes forbid such international marriages. That also postponed Hum's acceptance of a political office in the rising Chinese party of Sun Yet Sen, and a honeymoon to China.

Miss Millage was wooed in San Francisco, won in Minneapolis, but not wed in Aberdeen. Six months ago Hum met her in San Francisco. She was visiting there. Then came the Minneapolis wooing. He was born in California.

Since the death of Yuan Shi Kati, his political party has been gradually ascending.

New Home Treatment for Banishing Hairs

With the aid of a delatone paste, it is an easy matter for any woman to remove every trace of hair or fuzz from face, neck and arms. Enough of the powdered delatone and water is mixed into a thick paste and spread on the hairy surface for about 2 minutes, then rubbed off and the skin washed. This completely removes the hair, but to avoid disappointment, get the delatone in an original package.

A Suffrage Grandmother Going to Convention

MRS. D. MCFARLAND AND GRANDCHILDREN

Mrs. O. McFarland, president of the Smith County Suffrage League of Texas, is to be one of the principal exhibits at the Atlantic City convention of the National American Woman Suffrage association. Mrs. McFarland is the youngest grandmother in the organization. She is the grandmother of husky Texas twins, and she and other suffragists think this is pretty good evidence that belief in woman suffrage does not incline women toward spinsterhood.

DRASTIC PEACE TERMS DISCUSSED BY THE ALLIES

Ceding of Heligoland, Neutralization of Kiel Canal and Destruction of German Border Forts Proposed

ENTENTE IS CONFIDENT

Allies May Offer Lenient Terms to States Adjoining Germany to Break Teutons' Power

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—The allies are discussing among themselves more drastic peace terms than ever before hinted. Here are some of the demands likely to be made on Germany:

The ceding to England of Heligoland.

Neutralization of the Kiel canal. Demolition of some of the strongest fortifications on the German borders.

This list of demands was obtained Thursday by the United Press from an official in close touch with allied sentiment both in this country and abroad.

The fact they believe the military situation is constantly improving from their standpoint, is responsible, this official said, for the allies allowing something to be known regarding the conditions under which they will consent to make peace.

Some Want Harsher Terms

There are officials among the allied nations whose desire to see Germany "absolutely crushed" leads them to propose even harsher terms than those listed. In order to break down the power of centralized Germany, it is said these men are in favor of offering lenient peace terms to adjoining states willing to sever their political connection with the empire. Bulgaria, said to be less in sympathy with Prussian rule than many of the other federated states, may accept such an offer allied diplomats think.

The main concern of the allies is no how long the war will last but how thoroughly Germany can be conquered, the United Press informant said. A peace dictated by the allies at Berlin after a triumphant march through Germany to Vienna was declared not at all improbable.

Heligoland Sore Spot

Heligoland, the great German naval base in the North sea, was purchased by Germany from England some years ago when the latter thought it worthless. Germany, however, has made it almost an impregnable fortress and during the war it has served as a basis for light cruisers, submarines and Zeppelins.

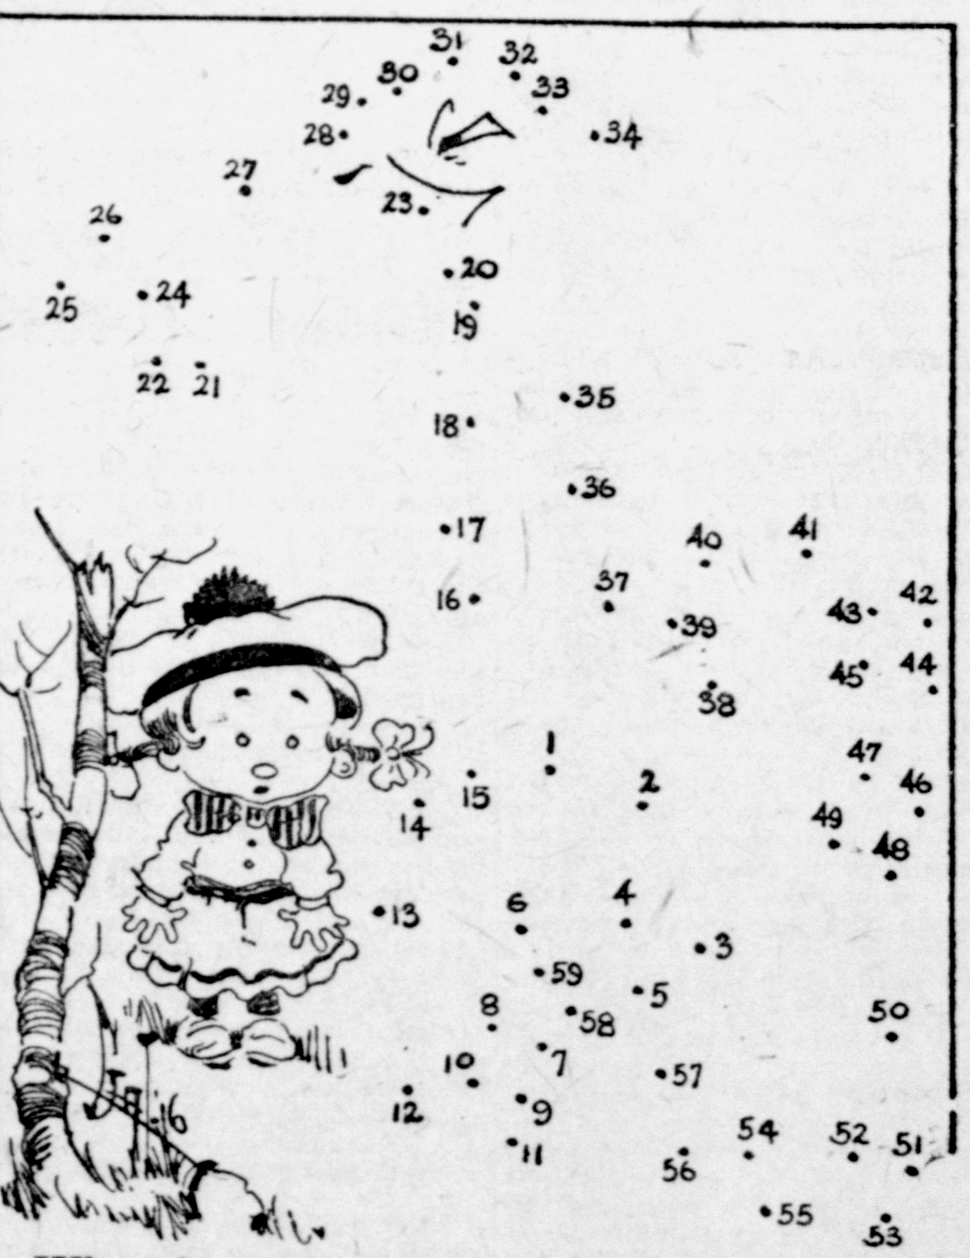

The Kiel canal which was developed simultaneously with the German navy under Admiral von Tirpitz, at present makes it difficult to bottle up the German navy when based there.

GROUNDING BOAT IS RELEASED

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 7.—The Pere Marquette steamer No. 3, which went aground off North Point in a wind storm early Thursday when her captain mistook the North Point light for the harbor, was released shortly after noon by tugs and proceeded under her own steam to port. About fifty passengers and members of the crew were taken from the vessel by the coast guard crew while she was aground.

The Searchlight
AUTOMATIC LID FOR TEA KETTLES
Many a housewife has sustained a bad burn from lifting the hot lid of the kettle she was attempting to refill. A tea kettle lid has been invented which will render this impossible. The lid has an automatic valve in the center which opens as the flow of water is turned upon it and closes when the water is shut off. This valve is at the bottom of a depression in the lid and the concave thus formed is a convenient place to set a cup or other small vessel containing butter to be melted or other ingredients requiring gentle heat. The lid is of aluminum, thoroughly sanitary and endorsed by the cooking experts who have seen it.

LA FOLLETTE LEADS IN VOTE-GETTING

La Follette's renomination, by figures much larger than shown by the now incomplete returns, is assured. He polled more votes than any other candidate in the state.

Philipp is renominated by a large plurality. This was generally expected. Men who know politics understood from the outset that a governor, running for the "customary second term", backed by solid and well organized conservative support, having the advantage of party machinery in a presidential year, and opposed by two men strong enough to split the votes of the progressive faction, could not be beaten for the party nomination. Just how great is Philipp's victory can not be known until full returns are available, but that it is substantial need not be doubted.

La Follette, however, showed greater strength than Philipp. Taking the figures for Thursday, in the stalwart papers of Milwaukee, we find that on the returns to date La Follette polled 58,023 as compared with 52,930 for Philipp. The great north country is still to be reported, and no doubt returns from that section will materially swell La Follette's vote, at the same time cutting down Philipp's plurality.

THE TRUTH IS NOT IN THEM

In the interest of candor there are submitted below four seven-column headlines that appeared Wednesday in the Milwaukee morning papers, the "Sentinel" and the "Free Press":

The "Sentinel"—

"Philipp Sweeps Wisconsin".

"Jeffris Shows Surprising Strength".

The "Free Press"—

"Looks Like Philipp Landslide".

"Jeffris Polls Heavy Vote in Milwaukee County".

In the "Sentinel" appears a large picture of Philipp; the "Free Press" carries pictures of Jeffris and Philipp. Neither publishes a photograph of La Follette.

"Philipp Sweeps Wisconsin", and, "Philipp Landslide". Do you get it? Not a word in those heads about the victory of the man they were going to "snow under" for the United States senate, although La Follette's vote is piled high above Philipp's vote. Only mention of the "Surprising Strength" shown by the defeated Jeffris, who was going to "snow La Follette under".

But with the "Sentinel" mendacity does not pause here. In the biggest print type in the issue, under a two-column head, there is described a "nip and tuck fight" between La Follette and Jeffris, in which the returns show "Jeffris Leading La Follette". In another column summarizing the situation the "Sentinel" says: "U. S. Senator, in Doubt".

It would be interesting to study a chart of the mental processes of publishers who can not refrain from misrepresenting today matters concerning which the truth will be known tomorrow.

WHY THE ETERNAL MASQUERADE?

Trempealeau county gave La Follette and Hatton big leads, because Trempealeau county is progressive. It gave Gaveney, stalwart candidate for state senator, more votes than it gave Clark, progressive. Why?

"Because Mr. Gaveney made his campaign upon the claim that he was a progressive. He paraded before the people of the district his one progressive vote in the senate, ignoring the entire array of his stand-pat vote. He told the people of Clark's one reactionary vote, but did not mention Clark's otherwise strongly progressive record. A belated exposure of the facts came in time to turn the tide in La Crosse county, but reached Trempealeau county too late to cover the field.

Why did Mr. Gaveney, a lifelong stalwart, pretend to be a progressive? Why did he not assure the voters that he was a tried and true stalwart?

Did ever one hear of a progressive candidate masquerading as a stalwart?

The Leader-Press, which supported all the stalwart candidates, published an editorial pretending to show that Gaveney was a progressive.

What would be the reader's sensation: should the TRIBUNE, in advocating the election of La Follette, assure the voters that "Bob" should be elected because the truth is that he is a stalwart?

If a majority of the voters of any precinct, county, district, or the state, want stalwart officers, their wishes should prevail, for under our party system the majority has a right to rule. But what shall we say of the candidate who appeals for votes upon pretenses which hide his true political status and represent him to be what he is not? And what shall we say of the faction so esteemed by public opinion that its candidates must repudiate it and wear their opponent's uniform in order to get votes?

the democratic side. "You claim you are devoted to humanity and despise commercialism. Then why don't you pass an amendment refusing our harbors to Germany's interned ships until she repudiates the Lusitania crime?"

Quips and Cranks and Wanton Wiles

Wrong Application

A merchant was visited by a friend and customer from the country whom he entertained by a visit to the theater. When the lights were low, the merchant drew forth a pair of opera glasses and handed them to his guest. A contented "Ah, Philip!" came from the countryman and then his arms in the air were discernible. "What's the trouble?" asked the host. The answer came in a distressingly plain whisper of disappointment: "Oh, nothing, only the thing is empty."

Where Reason Prevailed

Paddy, the hodman, was a new arrival on the job. When he went to the top of the building and failed to return the foreman shouted up: "Come on, Paddy; what's keeping ye?" "Sure," cries Paddy, "I can't find my way down."

Take Turns

Two Irishmen were working on a farm. When dinner time came they were called to dine off a large basin of broth. The farmer's wife had only one spoon, so she gave Pat a fork. Poor Pat was getting nothing. While Mike was very busy. When the broth was about one-third gone Pat said: "Arrah, now, Mike, you dig a bit and I'll shovel."

Unsatisfactory Choice

"Why are you disgusted, Dennis?" "I just hear-r-d wan man call another a liar. And the man that was called a liar said the other man would have to apologize or there would be a fight."

Out of the Mouths of Kids

"What is the plural of man, Johnny?" asked a teacher of a small pupil. "Men," answered Johnny. "Correct," said the teacher. "And what is the plural of child?" "Twins," was the unexpected reply. — Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

THE TRIBUNE'S TRAVELETTE

(By Nicksab)

VAUGHN

Vaughn is one of the smaller American cities. It is not as large as New York, or even as East Orange, New Jersey. A study of the last census report would show a number of other cities that exceed Vaughn in size. Any of them with a population of 400 might claim the honor. Vaughn's chief claim to fame lies in the fact that it lies at the junction of two of the most important American railway systems. The Santa Fe going west strikes the Rock Island going south, and where they meet the city of Vaughn is located. Large numbers of passengers change from one line to the other here, and the chief local industry is carrying them between the stations.

For, moved by some inscrutable and corporational motive, or perhaps with a kindly eye to the welfare of the people of Vaughn, the two railroads omitted to put their respective stations at the point where their tracks cross. Each of them set down a station on the line about a mile from the real junction and about two miles apart. The result is an occupation for the natives, and a divided town. Half of it hugs one railroad, half the other, with a goodly stretch of virgin prairie between.

The ride across country furnishes a welcome break in the monotony of a transcontinental journey. The voyager descending in the midst of what he has always thought of as the desert, is greeted with embarrassing warmth by the owners of every variety of transport facility. If he keeps a firm grip on his suitcase and avoids being hauled bodily into one of the vehicles he can have his choice of a variety of transportation representing all stages in the development of the west.

There is an old-time plains buckboard, a retired city hack of the vintage of 1890, a genuine stage-coach of the sort that carried Wells-Fargo guards with sawed-off shotguns in another era; and for him who values speed above romance, there is an up-to-date Ford. The ride in any of them is something of a thrill, for they make a race of it across the prairie through the darkness, swaying and bumping and shouting for the narrow road. You do not see much of either half of Vaughn en route, but the next morning you can go out on the porch of the hotel and look at all of it.

MINERS DISCUSS WAGE ISSUE

The TRIBUNE'S Daily Short Story

WORTHY OF REMEMBRANCE

BY ELSIE SEE

(Copyright, 1916, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"Talk about the quiet of a village," muttered Larry Elliott, as he sleepily arose on the second morning of his vacation at Angiersville, "but if there's a quiet moment from the time the first robin chirps at daybreak until the village band quits practicing at midnight I haven't been able to locate it."

A few moments later Larry was out for a walk before breakfast. Ignoring the narrow strip of concrete sidewalk, he was swinging along in the middle of the street when he gave a low, indrawn whistle, for coming toward him from the dusty road which led down by the railroad was a slim girl in a soft white waist and khaki skirt. The tints of her copper-colored hair blended with the brown-centered yellow daisies she carried, and Larry's delighted admiration shone in his frank, brown eyes.

Just then the village quiet was broken by the excited yells of a small boy whose three cows being driven to pasture decided to bolt their keeper's care and dash back to the lot where their lately weaned calves stood bawling. Along the road, just behind the girl, the clumsy animals swung, mooing, rumbling and tossing their heads angrily. The girl turned her head and took one glance at them, but stood motionless with fright. Onward lunged the cows and the small boy continued to yell excitedly. Larry bounded to the girl's side. With one hand he took hold of her arm and with the other he waved his Panama hat wildly back and forth in the faces of the cows, whose lumbering movements came to a sudden halt. The next instant, though, they swerved to either side and went on toward their crying offspring. Larry could feel the girl's arm trembling, but he looked at her with such a friendly, amused smile that she laughed.

"Thank you for rescuing me." Her voice was a bit tremulous. "I've had a foolish terror of cows all my life, though never before have I had any real reason to fear them."

"Glad to be of service," said Larry, and hoping to prolong the conversation he ventured to add, "For the girls renew the attack at some other point on your journey, won't you let me go along to wave them away again?" He held up his hat threatening, and both of them laughed.

"Ogres are as nothing to the tongues of village gossips. Sir Knight of the Panama," said the girl demurely.

"Oh, bother the tongues and the thousand other things in this burg which won't keep quiet."

"But every moment we stand here makes material for those tongues," said the girl, taking a backward step, "so I must move on. Thank you, again."

"For your sake I'll move on, too, but if I can find a way to meet you according to the ethics of the gossips, have I your permission?" Larry's eyes were pleading so earnestly that the girl smiled and pulled a long-stemmed daisy from the bunch she carried.

"Yes, and here's a mascot," tossing him the flower. "May it bring you luck!"

Larry returned to his breakfast with a contented smile and a ravenous appetite. As his landlady bustled about the sunny, rag-carpeted dining-room, he longed to ask her about the girl he had met, but knew it would be unwise. He felt that the charming girl was in the sleepy village, but not of it.

"Would that I had been bidden to call upon her instead of upon the spinster who was my grandmother's boarding school chum," Larry sighed at this thought, but stoically drew from his pocket the note of introduction his grandmother had addressed to Miss Arabella P. Mortimer. He resolved to make the promised call that afternoon so that he might pursue the pleasures of his vacation without qualms of conscience for duties unperformed. He set out that afternoon expecting to be received in a darkened drawing-room by an oppressively dignified spinster, and his expectations were fully realized. Miss Mortimer was just as he had pictured her, even to the way she folded her thin white arms across each other in her lap. While listening courteous to her precisely worded remarks and while making adequate if not enthusiastic responses, Larry was picturing to himself the stately social functions which had doubtless taken place within those broad, high-ceiled rooms when Miss Mortimer had been a dimpled girl instead of a wrinkled spinster. Suddenly the middle-aged servant who had admitted Larry reappeared at the doorway with a frightened expression.

"Begging your pardon, Miss Mortimer."

NEWS NOTES - MOVIELAND

Sinbad the Sailor, who gained considerable fame as an adventurer, led a drab, colorless existence compared with the melodramatic happenings which have been packed into the short thirty-odd years of Charles Arling's life. Every one knows Arling as an actor in motion pictures. Few know the romance of the William Fox photographer.

Errand boy in one of Boston's largest bird stores was his first position, and the joyous experience of being locked up with a lot of fane, jabbering birds one night is only a mild incident of this part of his career. Long association with the Hub's most educated and cultured songsters gave him an excellent baritone voice himself, so the erstwhile errand boy jumped voice foremost into the ranks of the famous Bostonian Opera company. A few years as a roving sailor on the bounding main, with a couple of globe circumnavigations chalked up to his credit; then some more annodominos of the stage—including seventy-six hours in Glad Brook, Iowa, where he was snowbound—and thence into movies. These are a few of the things Arling recalls in an idle moment.

Myrtle Has Infant Beau

Myrtle Stedman is scandalizing her neighborhood by daily receiving gifts of flowers from a young gentleman. The heart breaker is three years old. He lives across the street and the flowers are stolen from anyone else's garden. When in hard luck he will even pluck flowers from Miss Stedman's own garden and give them to her. He refuses kisses, but will accept candy. His daily homage performed to his satisfaction he will say "bye" and toddle off home.

Charles Gunn, a from-the-legitimate-the-screen leading man, is wavering between the inclination to return to the stage via the new vaudeville circuit to have its headquarters in Los Angeles, and a contract offer which says "stay in pictures." Mr. Gunn's resignation from the Universal company takes place this week upon completion of Director Robert Leonard's feature "The Eagle's Wings."

Al Jennings is devoting his untiring

ing energies to arrangements for the production of a strong feature picture written by him and recently purchased by the Universal company. Much time and consideration are being spent by this company on the choice of a director and cast for the Jennings picture, which promises to be one of big human appeal.

I was restless and got up in the morning feeling all worn-out. I used different medicines, but nothing helped me until I took Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at C. A. Begun's Drug Store. RECORD SMASHING CONGRESS EXPECTS TO FINISH WORK would be approved, two to one. The president's answer was a summary demand that they be tabled. Three or four days passed while the fight was organized from the white house. Then his congressional lieutenants struck, and the resolutions were overwhelmed. After that, congress—except for one halting exception—accepted the president's leadership in foreign affairs without question.

A short conflict loomed when the President personally visited the capitol, and told congress he had sent Germany a virtual ultimatum over the Sussex incident. Suddenly hundreds of thousands of telegrams, in five or six identical forms, poured in from every section of the country. There were hundreds of bushels of them. Astounded, congress wavered in its attitude.

In a smashing speech Senator Huston exposed the demonstration as backed and financed by a German-American organization. Officials of the latter admitted it, and the affair became a cloak-room jest.

From the time the session opened, the pot of Mexican affairs never ceased boiling. Half a dozen republicans—led by Fall and Borah in the senate—were insistent interventionists. As the bandit raids into American territory developed, border democrats became restless.

Mexican Policy Jereed
"Watchful waiting" was jeered as a policy productive only of bandit contempt and continued outrages. Each outbreak furnished new ammunition for interventionist oratory. At length guardsmen and troops were sent to the border. The movement was supported by both parties, although republicans charged it was a political rather than a military step. Senator La Follette pushed through a resolution pledging the country against intervention. Alone of republicans, he praised President Wilson's policy.

With the calling of the state troops, a new principle in American military history was established. For the first time, the president was enabled to send a national guardman beyond the boundaries of his country without either the guardman's or his state's consent. Under the Hay-Chamberlain army reorganization, they were simply drafted as the "federal reserve."

Provides for Defendants
Bitter protests from dependents flooded the capitol. Wives and mothers of men snatched suddenly from their livelihoods, appeared personally. Two orders resulted, one releasing men with dependents from serving, and the other paying as high as $50 a month to the families of those who chose to serve. Two millions was appropriated for this.

The session began with President Wilson's message urging a greater army and navy. Fear of foreign complications and an apparent public sentiment gave "preparedness measures" strong backing. But many democrats and middle west republicans, attacking the sentiment as "hysteria," continued the consistent foes of the President's program. Finally a "swing around the circle" in the middle west by the president seemed to give the bills overwhelming support.

The Hay-Chamberlain army act, reorganizing and enlarging both state and national land forces, was signed by President Wilson, June 3. The peace strength of the regulars was set at 175,000 enlisted men and 11,000 officers; war strength, 287,000. States were authorized to raise 425,000 guardsmen, a large part of the expense of which the federal government promised to bear.

Naval Program Adopted
The back of "pacifism" having been broken, the naval program—four dreadnaughts and four battle cruisers—was adopted. In three years, experts declared, this program would give the United States a fleet superior to any other except Great Britain's. The largest, fastest submarines in the world were authorized. On the new dreadnaughts, monster 16-inch guns, the most powerful naval cannon in use, will be mounted.

Though United States coast defenses were reported by all experts as the best in the world, the appropriation was quadrupled—from $6,000,000 to $25,000,000. Guns larger than Germany's famed 42 centimeter Black

TOO MUCH MONEY IN THE FORD PEACE JUNKET, SAYS AKED

Rev. Charles F. Aked.

"There was too much money in the Ford peace expedition," is the conclusion to which Rev. Charles F. Aked, one of the most prominent figures in the movement "to get the boys out of the trenches by Christmas," has finally arrived. "A multi-millionaire cannot buy peace," asserts Rev. Aked.

Berthas will be mounted at New York and Cape Henry, the latter of which guards Washington and Baltimore.

For three-fourths of a million dollars congress contracted with John Hays Hammond, Jr., for his invention by which, it is claimed, the course of a torpedo can be controlled by radio.

Lessons from War

Drawing lessons from the European war, congress laid special stress on field artillery; kept many United States army officers as observers in foreign trenches; appropriated $13,000,000 for aeronautics, and laid in a supply of armed cars and motor trucks.

Government ownership advocates pushed through two projects; a $20,000,000 plant for the manufacture of nitrates for explosives and fertilizer, and a $11,000,000 government armor plate plant. The nitrate plant is designed to extract nitrogen from the air by hydro-electric power. Chilean nitrate beds have been the United States' sole commercial source of supply.

Academies Enlarge

Naval officers are to be promoted, in grades above commander, by examination and selection rather than length of service. United States yards are equipped to build battleships. Enlisted men in both army and navy are to be given increased help and opportunity to rise to commissioned officer ships. For those who wish but one enlistment, trade schools are to be established with officers and specialists as teachers.

Both Annapolis and West Point were enlarged, and the number of cadets to be appointed each year increased over 50 per cent. The need for heavy revenues was seen early. Sugar was stricken from the free list. The supreme court having validated the income tax, the heaviest burdens in the general revenue bill were laid on incomes, munitions and inheritances. An unsuccessful fight was made to make public income tax returns, to prevent alleged extensive "dodging."

At President Wilson's instance, a tariff commission was created; a protective tariff on dyestuffs levied; and a law passed to prevent traders of foreign nations from selling products in this country more cheaply than they did at home.

Just after the democratic caucus had agreed to lay the national child labor act over until next December, President Wilson paid the capitol an unannounced visit and declared he had no intention of beginning his campaign until the measure was passed—it having been part of the party platform. The caucus hastily reversed ed itself, and the bill was passed by a bi-partisan vote.

Philippines all but won their immediate independence. The senate approved a bill giving them their freedom in four years at the most. But house democrats—mostly Tammany men—bolted the party caucus and with republican aid, defeated this. A measure was passed granting larger self-government in local affairs, and promising freedom when "a stable government shall have been established."

The Moss-Hollis rural credits law, creating a system something similar to the federal reserve, and guaranteeing loans to actual farmers at not more than 5 per cent was approved by tremendous majorities. As high as 36 years are given to repay loans. Though voting for it, republicans declared the bill faulty drawn.

The Shackelford good roads bill, appropriating $85,000,000 for federal aid to states which will contribute equal amounts, became a law. About $6,000,000 will be spent next year and increasing amounts thereafter. This federal aid to local communities was assailed as unconstitutional, but defended on the ground that it aided in the upkeep of post-roads. Auto organizations backed it strongly.

Danish Islands Purchase Approved

Late in the session, the Danish government's treaty to sell its West Indian Islands came to the senate for confirmation. Though $25,000,000 was declared too high a price, the purchase was approved.

Almost emasculated of all government-ownership or operation features, the shipping bill, creating a $50,000,000 merchant marine, was passed.

National Parks Organized

National parks were organized under one head; a plea for clemency for Irish political prisoners made; railroads made strictly responsible for bills of lading; a "vocational education" system established in conjunction with agricultural colleges. Congress incorporated the American Academy of Arts and Letters, with Theodore Roosevelt, President; Wilson, Nicholas Murray Butler, Senator Lodge, and many others as charter members; made it possible for a person to deposit $2,000 in a postal savings account; and created an Army and Navy medal roll for soldiers over 65 who have been given recognition for "gallantry and intrepidity outside the line of duty," with $10 a month extra pension.

After a long fight Louis D. Brandeis was confirmed as a member of the supreme court. John H. Clarke, a Tom Johnson Ohio racist, took his place in the court without a row.

Suffragists and prohibitionists both were unsuccessful.

Husting Fights Pork Barrel
Senators Kenyon and Husting fought determinedly the forty-two million dollar river and harbor bill, an alleged "pork barrel" bill. They lost by only one vote, on one test roll call, in efforts to lessen it. Had they obtained the tie, Vice-President Marshall was all loaded to vote against the bill.

"Bob" Against Secret Diplomacy
La Follette made a spectacular fight against "secret diplomacy," which he said was one of the main causes of the European war. He proposed the consideration of all treaties in public; a national popular vote before congress could declare war; and advocated a provision forbidding the use of the army or navy to collect debts due private American investors, bankers or bond holders in foreign countries.

He never got more than ten votes in favor of any one of these measures. On conservation measures the house and senate early, reached a deadlock. In a general way the house was more radically conservationist than the senate. As a result no bill on that subject passed.

Senator Gallinger and Representative Humphrey of Washington attempted to repeal the principal sections of the La Follette seamen's act. They met with too determined resistance.

California operators tried to obtain sites within the United States naval reserves but the opposition of Secretary Daniels defeated them.

The proposed Colombian treaty, which would have paid that country twenty-five million dollars for the United States' alleged aid by the revolution by which Panama became independent, died in the foreign relations committee.

GREATEST TRACTION STRIKE IN GOTHAM HISTORY DECLARED

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—The biggest transportation strike in the history of New York, which union leaders declared would tie up the subway and elevated systems was on Thursday.

Employees on the surface cars of the New York Railways company also called a strike and few street cars were in operation.

However, despite the order intended to affect 18,000 employees, normal service was being maintained today.

William B. Fitzgerald, strike leader, admitted that the motormen of subway and "L" trains had not responded to the strike call. Trains on these lines, handling the bulk of the city's passenger traffic, were running on regular schedule. Places of guards on the cars were taken by strikebreakers in many instances.

Little disorder was reported and such reports as reached the police were not serious.

Thousands of men and women, fearing trouble on the subway or elevated line, went to work Thursday morning in "jitneys" which appeared in droves over night or clambered aboard motor buses or th slowly moving surface cars of such lines as were still in operation.

Taking advantage of the release of strikebreakers in various cities by the calling off of the railroad strike last week, hundreds of men were hurried here to take the places of regular employees who walked out.

The strike was called shortly after 9 o'clock and from then on until Thursday it was evident that the regular men were gradually leaving their posts.

Interboro officials have flatly refused to arbitrate the differences with the employees. The men struck because of the refusal of General Manager Hedley to abrogate individual master and servant contracts made with hundreds of employees after the recent troubles when a strike was narrowly averted.

Waddell Rushed to New York

CHICAGO, Sept. 7.—James T. Waddell, who holds the distinction of being the boss strikebreaker of the world, was due to arrive in New York some time Thursday afternoon to take charge of the strike on the elevated and subway lines there. He left here shortly after midnight, a lone passenger on a special train on the New York Central, consisting of an engine, a baggage car, six empty Pullmans and a private car. His ride will cost $3,000.

FIVE-CENT LOAF BELIEVED DOOMED AS BAKERS MEET

CHICAGO, Sept. 7.—Elimination of five-cent bread for the ten cent loaf was considered certain Thursday as members of the executive committee of the National Association of Master Bakers met to take action on the proposition.

The increased cost of wheat, sugar, lard, yeast and labor, was given as the reason for the call of the meeting. Three ways to meet these difficulties have been proposed—reduction of the size of the five cent loaf increase of the price to either six or seven cents, or baking a ten cent loaf only. The bakers favor the last way. They say it takes just as much time and labor to make a five cent loaf as to make a ten cent loaf. The ten cent loaf, then, would practically be equal to five cent loaves of the present size.

Bakers point out as the chief reason for the necessity of immediate action the fact that flour has jumped from $4.50 to $7.25 per barrel within five weeks. Before this advance the average profit, say wholesale bakers, on a five cent loaf was three-tenths of a cent. Now, they say, there will be a loss of a cent on each loaf.

FAMOUS NOVEL IN FILM AT CASINO

The famous old novel is here presented as a tense picture, full of real drama, and with carefully contrived and well built up situations. The only real fault in the script is that Bruce McRae has been all but written out of it. It is too bad to see an actor of the calibre of Mr. McRae stumbling around without a part. He plays Squire Rodney, and although great sympathy is directed his way throughout the story, he is seldom on hand to receive it.

Full advantage has been taken by the producers of the winter scenery up state to produce beautiful views in the woods and along the old mill stream, and the old mill itself is an attractive and home-like setting. This atmosphere of home life, upon which the story depends for its force, has been excellently created and held.

William Riley Hatch gives an excellent characterization as Dunstan Kirke; Creighton Hale and Pearl White are also in the cast.

FORD BRINGS LIBEL SUIT FOR MILLION ON CHICAGO TRIB.

CHICAGO, Sept. 7.—Henry Ford, millionaire automobile manufacturer and pacifist, filed suit in the United States district court Thursday against the Chicago Tribune asking $1,000,000 damages. In his petition Ford alleged that the Tribune libelled him by calling him "an anarchist."

Ford's suit is based on an editorial that appeared in the Tribune June 23, 1916, under a caption: "Ford is an Anarchist."

The editorial was based on a story that Ford would discharge all his employees who joined the national guard to go to the Mexican border.

The petition alleges that "this is not even a true fact."

BOTH CAMPS SEE WIN IN MAINE

AUGUSTA, Me., Sept. 7.—Approaching the grand finale of the Maine campaign for the state elections which are expected to act as a political barometer for the entire country Monday, both republican and democratic state committees claimed victory Thursday in statements to the United Press.

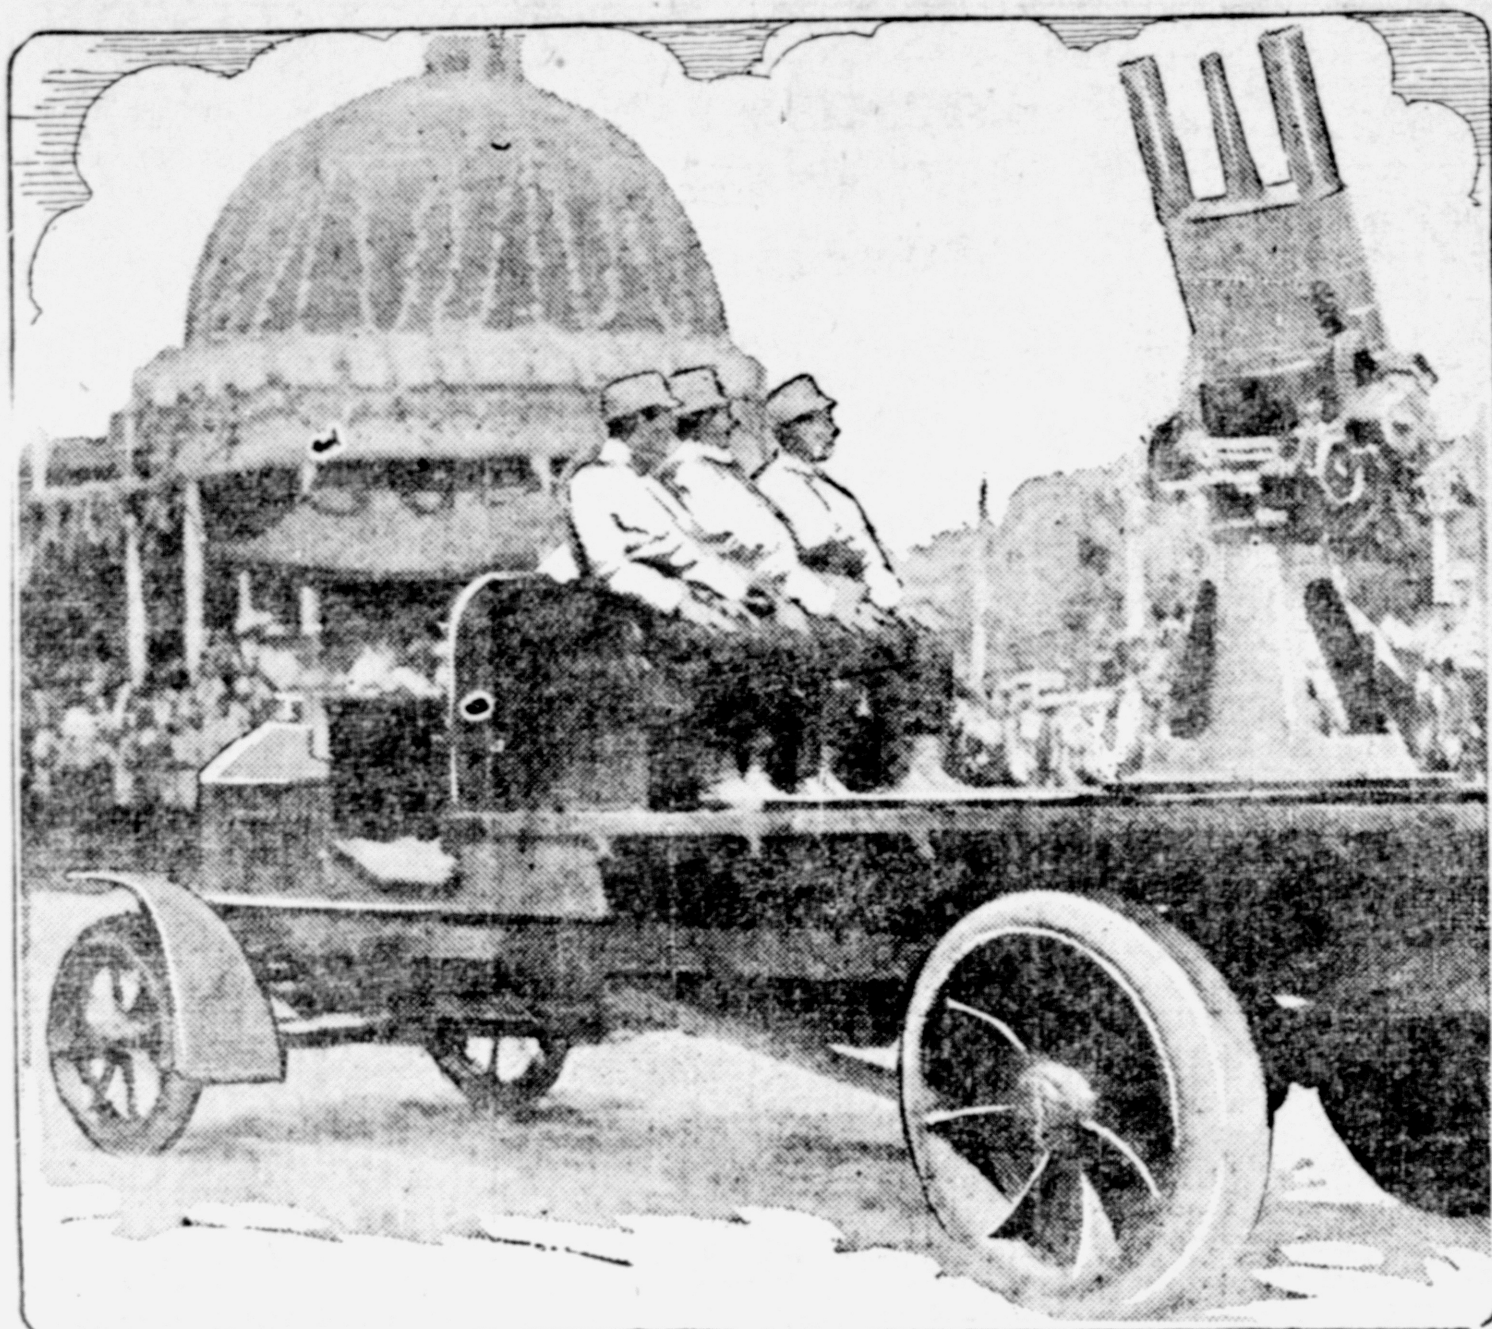

"Next Monday we expect to sweep the state by approximately 15,000 majority. From the way we see it, Maine will go strongly republican," was the statement from the republican committee.

"On September 11 the republican party in this state will face a strong forceful and united democracy which plainly means a democratic victory," said the statement from democratic headquarters.

I wish to thank the voters of La Crosse county for their support at the primaries, especially the city voters for their hearty support and good judgment.

Yours truly,
W. H. RISTOW.

ROUMANIANS TURN GERMAN-MADE GUNS ON THE GERMANS

Roumanian anti-aircraft gun that moves on auto truck.

The German practice of selling munitions of war to all the nations of the earth now brings the interesting result that Krupp guns are to be turned on German soldiers by the Roumanians. The Roumanians say these guns are highly efficient and may turn the tide of war against the Teutonic allies.

WAVE OF DEMOCRACY TO SWEEP WORLD AFTER WAR, SAYS SUFFRAGIST

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 7.—A mighty wave of democracy will sweep the world at the end of the present war, bringing with it the enfranchisement of women both in the United States and Europe, Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the National Association for Woman Suffrage, declared at Thursday afternoon's session of the national convention.

"Another tide of political liberty, similar to that of 1848, but of a thousand-fold greater momentum, is rising from the battle field and hospital, from camp and munitions factory," said Mrs. Catt. "In Great Britain, hundreds of bitter active opponents have confessed their conversion on account of the war services of women. Above the roar of the cannon, the scream of shrapnel and the whirr of the aeroplanes, one who listens may hear the cracking of fetters which have long bound the European woman to outworn conventions."

Woman's Hour Has Struck

"The woman's hour has struck. It has struck for the women of Europe and for those of all the world. If our own people possess the sense of patriotism and the sense of nationality which should be the inheritance of an American, they will not wait until the war is ended, but will boldly lead in the inevitable march of democracy, our own American specialty."

Mrs. Catt's subject was "The Crisis." The suffrage movement, she pointed out, had made rapid strides from 1910 to 1916 and is now approaching a crucial period when the suffrage leaders must put forth their greatest efforts.

Particularly she urged women to awake from the passive attitude that "suffrage is bound to come."

Wins Endorsement
"Our cause has won the endorsement of all political parties; every candidate for the presidency is a suffragist," she said. "The liquor forces have developed an organized opposition, apparently supported by large funds which have been an active factor in every campaign except two since 1890 and in those two we won. The secretary of one state liquor association recently said to a man of honor that they would not allow another state to be carried for suffrage within the next ten years."

"We know that in the Colorado campaign the brewers of Denver printed false statements and caused them to be put under the door of every house in the city. We know that in the last unsuccessful campaign in Oregon the order went out from the liquor forces to the saloons of the state to deliver a stated number of votes in opposition to the suffrage amendment. Every suffragist in Michigan seemed to agree the amendment was counted out in the first campaign and that the ballots were stuffed in the second year."

"But the woman's hour has struck. Yet, if the call goes unheeded, if our women think it means a vote without a struggle, if they think other women can and will pay the price of their emancipation the hour may pass and our political liberty may not be won."

"But the woman's hour has struck. Yet, if the call goes unheeded, if our women think it means a vote without a struggle, if they think other women can and will pay the price of their emancipation the hour may pass and our political liberty may not be won."

La Crosse Chamber of Commerce News Notes

Board Endorses Public Health Tag Day Plan

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce, endorsement was given the request of public health committee for a Tag day some time in September for the purpose of making up the deficit of about $300. This is an annual affair, and the board of directors felt justified in giving its endorsement to such splendid work on the part of public spirited citizens devoting their time, without cost, to the welfare of children.

HUGHES ATTACKS ADMINISTRATION FOR EIGHT HOUR LAW

Candidate Declares Passage but One Step Toward Abolition of Government

BY PERRY W. ARNOLD

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

HAMPTON BEACH, N. H., Sept. 7.—"It is only one step to the abolition of government," was the characterization with which Charles E. Hughes here on Thursday wound up a vigorous denunciation of the "policy of surrender to force" which he sees in President Wilson's hurrying through the eight-hour law in attempting to avert the railroad strike. The republican nominee went farther in his denunciation of the administration than in any speech so far, and a crowd of about 1,500 cheered him vociferously.

"It is not an eight-hour law," he vehemently asserted; "it is a wage law."

He referred to "surrender of the rule of reason," and declared:

"Against every effort of that sort by the hand of the executive, the authority of congress should be raised. We cannot surrender what we have won for free institutions in the country. We have won the right of free discussion, a free press, a democratic form of government, free legislative assemblies and an executive chosen by the people. We have left autocracy and we have left tyranny and we have left force. They shall not come back if we can help it."

"We have had recently at the proposal of the executive an act passed by congress confessedly in ignorance of what justice demands; confessedly in ignorance of what the facts require. It is not an eight-hour law; it is a wage law and no one knows whether it was just or not. It may be just, but I am against arbitrary action like that which strikes a blow at the fundamentals of our institutions. I propose in what we do we shall investigate first and then legislate; not legislate first and then investigate."

Politics Almost Gets Into Island Bridge Meeting

Partisan politics almost was injected into the meeting of the joint city and county bridge committee discussing the proposed new French Island bridge on Thursday afternoon.

Abel R. Moore of Onalaska was detailing the unsuccessful efforts of the late L. R. Cox and the Progressive league to get a decision from the war department anent the navigability of Black river as far as Onalaska. "We never got anything definite," concluded Mr. Moore.

"Was that during a democratic or republican administration?" asked B. C. Smith.

"That was during both a republican and a democratic administration," volunteered District Attorney Otto Schlabach.

ASHURST SHAKES FIST AT CURTIS IN WILD DEBATE

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 7.—The senate on Wednesday indulged in one of the wildest sessions of its history during a debate on the corrupt practices bill fathered by President Wilson and Senator Owen of Oklahoma.

At one point during the proceedings a personal encounter between Senators Ashurst of Arizona, a democrat, and Curtis of Kansas, a republican, was averted only by the interference of Senator Smoot of Utah, another republican.

At another time Senator Ashurst called Senator Penrose of Pennsylvania a liar and refused for a time to retract his statement, though it was wholly out of order and the chair and number of his democratic colleagues insisted he retract it. Finally he made an equivocal withdrawal.

In opening the debate on the measure, Senator Owen said the bill would restrict campaign expenditures of candidates for the senate and house and for the presidency and vice presidency in the present campaign. He intimated strongly the republicans were going out to buy up the country. He asserted the democrats were following the straight and narrow path and that they intended to make the republicans do the same.

These statements aroused the republicans, who pitched into the debate in dead earnest.

Reveals Democratic Fund
Senator Gallinger of New Hampshire produced a statement from Wilbur W. Marsh, treasurer of the democratic national committee, to the effect that the democrats would have all the money they need to put Wilson over this year. Then, when the democrats challenged the authority for this statement, Senator Gallinger read a letter written by Marsh to a postmaster in New Hampshire rebuking him for failing to carry out orders of the national committee.

The reading of this letter created a sensation. Republican senators asserted it was worthy of the attention of an investigating committee. They insisted if the democrats were sincere in their promises they would immediately relieve Marsh of his job. It also was charged the democrats have spent $200,000 to carry Maine election next week.

Ashurst Shakes Fist
Senator Curtis, getting back into the debate again, called the senate's attention to the fact that Senator Ashurst, one of the leading supporters of the corrupt practices bill, had sent out more than 50,000 letters to his constituents under a government frank, reviewing his record in the senate and appealing to them for their approval of it. Ashurst is a candidate for re-election. Also, according to an investigating committee, they insisted if the democrats were sincere in their promises they would immediately relieve Marsh of his job. It also was charged the democrats have spent $200,000 to carry Maine election next week.

Senator Ashurst knocked senators' chairs aside and rushed with upraised fist at Senator Curtis. Senator Smoot of Utah shoved his chair between the two senators and Senator Ashurst halted. He shook his fist under Senator Curtis' nose and called him "a Kansas pharisee." Then he retreated to the democratic side.

Passes Lie to Penrose
As Mr. Ashurst turned to his seat after defending the letter, he said the democrats had driven the lobbyists from the capitol, and representatives of special interests no longer had their way in Washington. Senator Gallinger asked him if he were quite certain all the lobbyists had disappeared. Mr. Ashurst responded that if any are here now they do not influence the leaders as the lobbyists of former days did the senators from New Hampshire, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and Utah.

Why not refer to the recent copper lobbyists who counted confidently on the senator from Arizona? Mr. Penrose asked.

Mr. Ashurst responded that if any senator said the copper lobby or any other lobby influences his vote, he lied.

Senator Gallinger demanded order, declaring the senator from Arizona had violated the rules of the senate in making a personal attack on his fellow senator.

Senator James of Kentucky said that the remark of Mr. Ashurst was no more personal than the one made by Mr. Penrose to provoke.

Senators Stone and Shaffroth prevailed on Mr. Ashurst to withdraw his denunciation of Mr. Penrose.

Senator Ashurst then took occasion to praise the record of Senator La Follette, whom he described "as an outcast among men who stood for dishonest government."

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—New York and Brooklyn broke even in their double-header here on Wednesday, the Giants winning the first, 6 to 1, and Brooklyn the second, 2 to 1. Benton pitched both games for the Giants, giving fourteen hits. The left hander had little trouble in winning the first game, as Brooklyn played poorly.

In the second Benton was opposed by Marquard and the two had an exciting battle. Brooklyn won in the eighth inning, when Johnston singled, stole second and scored on a double by Stengel. Stengel was caught off second a moment later and protested so vigorously that he was ordered from the field.

WELSH OFFERS TO MEET WHITE OVER A LONGER ROUTE

DENVER, Col., Sept. 7.—That Freddie Welsh doesn't fear to meet Charley White over any distance is evidenced by the latest offer of Harry Pollock, manager of Welsh, to match the champion against White for a finish fight of "forty-five rounds or more if necessary."

Pollock declared the only stipulation they would make would be that Welsh must get the same money for the fight that Willie Ritchie got when he lost the title to Welsh.—$26,000. Welsh's manager expressed his willingness to go to South America for the fight or to put it up to "Baron" King of Los Angeles to stage the match at Tia Juana.

Nate Lewis, White's manager, said Thursday that stakeholder Ed Smith had $1,000 of White's forfeit money in his hands and declared he was ready to let it go as a guarantee of his willingness to make the match, but insisted that the referee be chosen from a list of twelve names to be submitted by him.

GARDNER MEETS BOY WONDER IN THE THIRD ROUND

MERION CRICKET CLUB, HAV-
ERFORD, Pa., Sept. 7.—Damp, misty weather with occasional showers threatened to mar the best event of the United States Amateur Golf championship when "Bobby" Jones, the boy wonder of Atlanta, and Robert Gardner, Chicago, teed off in the third round of match play on the links here Thursday. Events are breaking well to bring Chick Evans, also of Chicago, into the final contest against either Gardner, the present titleholder, or Jones.

Evans faced John G. Anderson of New York; Jessie Corkran, Baltimore, vs. Cameron Buxton, Philadelphia. That is the card for today.

Pittsburgh and the Pacific coast were eliminated yesterday.

WATCHING THE SCOREBOARD

Wednesday's Hero
Ty Cobb, The Detroit wonder after a scratch hit to short, scored the winning run for the Tigers over St. Louis by stealing second and third and making the plate through an infield hit.

The Red Sox failed to gain by their victory over the Athletics, for the Tigers kept right at their heels. It was the hundredth defeat of the season for Connie Mack's collegians.

The Giants and Brooklyn had a great day. The Brooklyn club took a trimming in the first game of a double-header and then came back and scored a pair of runs for Rube Marquard, enough for victory.

Rube Benton of the Giants did his best to be an iron man and almost accomplished it. He barely missed getting two wins in the same afternoon.

It was a hard matter for a short-sighted man to tell what club was wearing white uniforms at the Polo grounds, for the Brooklyn and New York adherents were about equally divided.

The Indians rallied and made two runs but the effort fell just two short of being enough to win from the White Sox.

DUSTY REACHES SEMI-FINALS IN CONSOLATIONS

A. A. Dusty will meet the winner of the Van Steenwyk-Funk match in the finals in second flight play in the annual Colman cup tournament at the Country club, following his victory Wednesday over F. W. Sisson 5 and 4. The second flight is the consolation event of the Colman cup eliminations.

The playing of Mr. Sisson in reaching semi-finals is considered remarkable, this being his first season on the links. G. Van Steenwyk and J. B. Funk were expected to play off their match Thursday.

Lowering skies threatened Thursday to cause postponement of semi-finals play in the cup event. Robert Gordon plays F. H. Hankerson and Emil Niemeyer meets George Van Auker.

"KEEP" DOESN'T MEAN TO SUPPORT HUBBIES

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—Brides married under the new form of ceremony proposed in the Episcopal church substituting the word "keep" for "obey" will not pledge themselves to support their husbands, Rev. John A. Maynard of the Little Church Around the Corner, explains. Under the new ritual marriage becomes a fifty-fifty, according to Rev. Maynard.

"It means simply that she promises to keep herself for him alone," he said.

It required ten innings to decide the contest, Stoddard nosing out a victory, 4 to 3. The score by innings:
Stoddard 101000011—4

CASHIER SAVES COIN
DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 7.—Motor bandits were in quest of loot in Detroit again Wednesday. Except for the presence of mind of a bank cashier $15,000 would have been added to the big swag already gathered in by criminals in recent weeks.

Two men entered the Federal State bank branch and ordered Cashier Leonard Noj to "turn over the dough." Noj reached quickly into a drawer and drew forth a revolver. The bandits fled, abandoning an automobile which they had parked in front of the bank.

THE HASKIN LETTER

FENCING UNCLE SAM'S PASTURE

By Frederic J. Haskin
WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 7.—The passing of the unfenced range, together with the free and romantic life of the early West, has been the subject of much sentimental language. The discovery that beefsteak was at the same time passing out of reach of all but the wealthy gave the subject a much more pressing and personal appeal. It makes the question of how that range is going to be fenced one of immediate importance to every one of us.

As congressional investigations and magazines articles have abundantly shown, the reason there is no longer enough beef to go around is that the western range is no longer big enough to raise the necessary number of cattle. Much has been said about the importance of raising cattle in the south, eating fish and peanuts instead of meat, raising poultry in the back yard, and otherwise taking the burden off the range. But the fact remains that the range lands of the west are the biggest cattle producing part of the country, and must be our main reliance for a supply of beef. Furthermore, they are entirely capable of producing much more beef than they now produce, provided they are fully and rightly used. They are also capable of supporting more people.

These facts have been realized by western ranchmen and western congressmen for a long time, and they have been steadily working at the problem, but the general public, in the east at least, does not seem to have heard much about it.

There are two principal schools of thought on the matter. Each of them knows what it wants and thinks it ought to get it, and each has some congressmen and senators on its side. The first of these parties is made of the small ranchers, who raise a few cattle and live on their ranches. They want a "grazing homestead law," which means a law allowing any free citizen of the United States twenty-one years old to take up that many acres of grazing land, and to own it after he has lived there a certain number of years and made certain improvements. The present homestead law allows a man only 160 acres of agricultural land or 320 acres of "arid" land. Now the 160-acre farm homestead is all right; but a man can not raise many cattle on 220 acres. On the other hand, if he had 640 acres or a full section, he could raise quite a herd.

The other side of the question is represented by the large cattle man—the corporations who own great tracts of land and own herds that number thousands and tens of thousands. They want a law which will permit them to lease from the government great areas of the public lands upon which they can graze their herds to the exclusion of all others.

Now the theoretical merits of these two propositions are so obvious as to need no emphasis. If the grazing homestead bill becomes a law, any and all of us can go out west and take up a little ranch. The land will support just as many people and as many cattle as it possibly can provide it is possible to make a living on a square mile of range at all.

If the leasing bill goes through, instead of a home on every square mile, there will be perhaps a home on every fifty square miles while the men who have leased the range, having plenty of it, will not be at such pains to produce all the cattle they possibly can. In other words, the grazing homestead, if it proves practicable at all, will give everybody a chance, make homes for the greatest number of people and produce the greatest number of cattle for the country at large.

Which of these bills becomes a law, depends primarily on the people that are going to eat the beefsteak, meaning you and me and the rest of us here in the east. For in the west, nearly everyone is an interested party. He is either poor and wants a grazing homestead law so he can get one, or he is rich and wants a leasing law so he can control a lot of range, or else he is in some way identified with one or the other of these interests. In any case, you can not blame him. He is merely trying to grind his own ax, just as all of us are. Therefore, it is up to you to look into this question, decide which method will get you the most beef-steak, and direct your congressman to vote accordingly.

Having, therefore, set forth the merits of the grazing homestead, it is now fair and just to give the cattle baron his innings. He can not very well deny that if the grazing homestead becomes a fact and a success, it will provide homes for more people, and that those people will have to produce all the cattle they possibly can in order to live. But he says it will not work. He says that no man can raise enough cattle on a square mile of western range to support himself and a family. The effect of the measure, he asserts, will be to place homesteads on all the water holes, so that the rest of the range will be useless.

Now the grazing homestead advocates have one crushing reply to that argument about impracticability. Some years ago, Congressman Kin-laid of Nebraska induced congress to pass a law providing that a 640-acre homestead could be taken up on certain lands in that state. According to reports made by the interior department, the law worked to perfection.

The exact and impressive statistics which show how Nebraska prospered under this law may be consulted in government reports. Suffice it to say that land of soddy houses and dugout became one of brick and stone houses and schools and churches, with a population that gained fifty per cent in ten years. The farmers are raising enough fodder on their lands to keep their cattle in the winter and enough cattle to keep their families all the year around.

Of course, many of the grazing lands of the west are not as rich as those of Nebraska. Agents of the land office in other western states, however, report that laws allowing patents on 640-acre tracts are needed, and they estimate that it will be possible for the homesteaders to make a living on even the poorest of the range lands.

So the grazing homestead man seems to have the best of the argument so far. He also has the lead in congress. A law providing for a grazing homestead on all public lands suitable for the purpose was introduced into the house several years ago and was passed last January. It met with absolutely no opposition on the floor. Bills which will help the common people never meet with any opposition on the floor. Once before the house, they are sure of passing as a democratic nominee in Texas is of election.

But they do not always have an easy time getting to the floor. The grazing homestead law is now experiencing that difficulty in the senate. Having been passed by the house, it has been reported by the senate committee and is now on the senate calendar and has been for several months. Some of the senators do not want it passed. They sympathize with the men who want the leasing bill. So the little grazing homestead bill continues to fill a small and unimportant place on the senate calendar, but it is among the reasonable certainties that it will pass in course of time, unless a leasing bill is passed first. The question is of sufficient importance to warrant thorough consideration from every American voter.

BANK TO DOUBLE CAPITAL
NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—At a special meeting called for Thursday the stockholders of the Chase National bank are to indorse the proposal of the directors to increase the capitalization from $5,000,000 to $10,000,000 and to slice a large melon in dividends. The bank is now the third largest and richest banking institution in the metropolis.

CLEVELAND GETS CONVENTION
CHICAGO, Sept. 7.—Cleveland, Ohio, was awarded the 1917 convention of the Spanish war veterans at the close of their convention here Wednesday. Denver, Col., and Evansville, Ind., the only contenders, withdrew in favor of Cleveland and made the selection unanimous.

Colonel Dan Chisholm of Washington, D. C., was elected commander-in-chief, defeating Barrat O'Hara, lieutenant governor of Illinois, who immediately made a motion to declare the election unanimous.

The Effects of Opiates.

THAT INFANTS are peculiarly susceptible to opium and its various preparations, all of which are narcotic, is well known. Even in the smallest doses, if continued, these opiates cause changes in the functions and growth of the cells which are likely to become permanent, causing imbecility, mental perversion, a craving for alcohol or narcotics in later life. Nervous diseases, such as intractable nervous dyspepsia and lack of staying powers are a result of dosing with opiates or narcotics to keep children quiet in their infancy. The rule among physicians is that children should never receive opiates in the smallest doses for more than a day at a time, and only then if unavoidable.

The administration of Anodynes, Drops, Cordials, Soothing Syrups and other narcotics to children by any but a physician cannot be too strongly decried, and the druggist should not be a party to it. Children who are ill need the attention of a physician, and it is nothing less than a crime to dose them willfully with narcotics.

Castoria contains no narcotics if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. Genuine Castoria always bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

Hello, Mr. Strong!
This is Paxton, I want to congratulate you on your appointment as General Manager of the works. You nearly missed it because the Board were afraid you were getting too old; but in the past few weeks you've seemed to grow younger, so they elected you on the first ballot. How did you do it?

Well, Paxton, I'll let you in on my secret. My hair was thin and gray — made me look 15 years older. I began using Dr. Cunningham's SAVE-IT — a wonderful hair tonic that stimulates the scalp and hair glands. This made my hair grow, stopped the dandruff and, best of all, made my hair take on its youthful color. I tell you there's no excuse for gray hair now when you can get Save-It. It is not a dye — works the same on red hair as on black and it's absolutely harmless, too. You'll thank me for telling you about it. Good bye! — Just a minute! The only store that sells Save-It is

ROAD BOOSTERS IN IOWA MEET AT M'GREGOR

Men in Towns Between Cresco and Dubuque to Talk Improvement of Burlington Way in Their District

M'GREGOR, Iowa.—(Special.)—Representatives of the Burlington Way association of the towns along the trail between Dubuque and Cresco will meet here Friday with the McGregor Auto Trails' association and A. T. Nissen of Iowa City, secretary of the Burlington Way, and J. P. Eckart of Guttenberg, supervisor of the Rock Island-Cresco division, to take up matters pertaining to the marking and improving of the road in this section.

Every pole on the St. Louis, Cedar Rapids, Cresco and St. Paul division of the Burlington Way is now painted with the white and orange emblem between St. Louis and St. Paul, also every pole on the St. Louis, Beardstown and Rock Island division to a point two miles north of Davenport. A. A. Hurst of Maquoketa has painters at work at present between Davenport and Dubuque and expects to have the road thoroughly marked to Dubuque within a week. This will leave only the hundred miles between Dubuque and Cresco unpainted. The McGregor meeting has been called to attend to the immediate marking of the line between Dubuque and Cresco and to go over plans for arousing interest and raising money for the improvement of this section.

ENGLISH WOMEN PAY PRICE OF PATRIOTISM IN SHELL FACTORIES

BY J. W. PEGLER
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
LONDON, Aug. 25.—(By Mail.)—Searched by molten metal, blinded by steel shavings and with fingers snipped off by the cruel machinery of the munitions factories, English women and girls are paying the price of patriotism as well as their men at the front.

Industrial accidents have not diminished despite the claim of labor experts that women are more careful than men. Their experience is believed to account for many of the accidents, so the experts may be right after all in theory. But theory won't restore sight or knead the kinks out of pitifully mangled hands.

Another explanation is that feminine puddlers, machinists and lathe hands become preoccupied at their work when their thoughts flit to the men fighting in France, the ladle tips or the belt slips off the roller, there's a scream and another casualty goes down on the growing list.

A big shell factory in Lancashire has claimed its share of victims. A soldier's wife is the latest worker to be seriously injured. Her mind wandered for a second from the deadly machine before her and the knife came down, lopping off the thumb, two fingers and part of a third from her left hand. But she'll be back at some kind of a war job when the wounds are healed. The workers know shells have got to be made.

Many women have become skilled mechanics who a few months ago were unaccustomed to manual work. They all brave the dangers of industry and cheerfully do their bit in the war.

GREAT BRITAIN PLANS SOCIALISTIC REFORMS AFTER THE WAR ENDS

BY WILBUR S. FORREST
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
LONDON, Aug. 16.—(By Mail.)—Great Britain is preparing to institute some almost socialistic reforms after the war.

Before parliament has formally ratified peace terms, it became known today, a bill will have been prepared with the sanction of the cabinet, striking a blow at preventable poverty and limiting wealth.

Premier Asquith is a leading advocate of a new social era for Britain, those in close touch with him announce. The entire cabinet is said to share his views.

The prime minister's first intimation of the government's plan was made in the house of commons during the recent discussion of the Paris Economic conference resolutions. Asquith declared the government had it in view certain reforms which would distribute the fruits of industry more evenly over the community.

From influential sources it is known that a tentative measure is being discussed giving the state comprehensive control over the distribution of profits, preventing, it is hoped, the accumulation of vast fortunes in a few hands and guaranteeing to the worker a wage equal to or more than that paid to workmen anywhere.

Barber of Oshkosh, its president. The depositors will not lose a cent."

A concealed man is unable to see his personal defects.
